THE SOURCE COLLECTIVE

A letter of welcome

Welcome to The Source Collective

We live in a world full of kindness and of people who want to live a good life, even if, at times, it may not seem that way. The truth is that all it takes is for the small actions of each day to be done, shared, and made known.

This movement has no owner. It belongs to everyone, and that is how we prefer to keep it, because the credit belongs to human beings. The flame that lights it is made of the small and great actions of each day, sometimes the ones no one notices. Those are the actions that light the flame connecting us to that higher Being, to that Source, or whatever you choose to call it, and that make us so special as human beings.

In this generation, it is more important than ever that we keep that connection alive, and that we act from that light, the light that leads us into a process of transformation in which we come to meet ourselves.

Welcome to your own journey. Let's build community together, and thank you for answering this call!

Ways to spread the word

- Do a good deed now and then: every day, or whenever you feel moved to.
- Tell someone about this initiative.
- Hand out butterfly cards. Write to us at us@thesourcecollective.world with your address and we can send you some, no matter where on the planet you live. Or download the logo and print a few at your local print shop.
- Add the butterfly logo to your social media and share the link to our website.
- Feature the logo at your business, on your website, or in your printed materials, and mention that you support the initiative.
- Anything else? Share your ideas with us, and let's build community to transform the world for this generation and the ones that follow.

With gratitude,

The Source Collective
